BEING CORRESPONDENCE WHICH DAUGHERTY REFUSED TO SUPPLY

(By United Press)
Washington, March 29.—William J. Burns, head of the department of justice bureau of investigation, was subpoenaed late yesterday by the senate Daugherty investigation committee to appear before it today with the files relating to Mexican gun running plots, which Daugherty refused to furnish it.

Senator Walsh of the oil committee issued a subpoena for W. L. Kistler, president of the Producers and Refiners Oil company of Tulsa, Oklahoma, to appear in connection with Al Jennings' statement of Jake Hamon's alleged convention deals.

GROVER C. BERGDOLL IS BACK IN ERBACH

SLACKER GOT COLD FEET ON RETURNING TO THE
UNITED STATES

(By United Press)
Berlin, March 29.—Grover Cleveland Bergdoll is back in Erbach.

The slacker and his companions the Stecher boys, got cold feet on the proposition—if they ever considered it seriously—of returning to the United States at this time.

Bergdoll said, however, he is still willing to return under his own conditions which include an adequate or personal guard and a definite agreement with the American government as to just what his punishment for draft evasion would be.

HEAVY ELECTRIC STORM STRUCK NEAR MEMPHIS

BADLY CRIPPLED WIRE COMMUN-ICATION IN THIS SEC-TION

HIGH WIND AND HEAVY RAIN-FALL TEARS DOWN
LINES

(By United Press)
Memphis, Tenn., March 29.—A heavy electric storm west of here today badly crippled wire communication.

Communication with points south to Jackson, Miss., was difficult as the result of the isolation of many towns in Arkansas, Southwest Missouri, Southern Illinois and Kentucky.

Telephone service between here and Chicago, St. Louis and other points west and north of those cities was severed.

A high wind and heavy rainfall tore down lines in all directions.

"KING'S TREASURER AND KEEPER OF THE PRIVY PURSE"

(By United Press)
London, March 29.—"The king's treasurer and keeper of the privy purse" sounds like a powerful job, but evidently it does not carry much salary.

Sir Frederick Ponsonby, who fills that exalted position, was summoned to appear at Guildford court Friday for non-payment of taxes.

He failed to appear, and the case was adjourned.

Old Man Winter Gives Gentle Spring a Setback

COMPLETE TRIP THROUGH SUPERIOR NATIONAL FOREST

Duluth, Minn., March 28.—Fourteen men emerged from the wilderness of the Superior National Forest Saturday after having followed four dog teams from Winton to Grand Marais, a trail of 150 miles long through the interior, entirely cut off from civilization.

The party, led by State Game and Fish Commissioner J. F. Gould, came to Duluth from Grand Marais, a little town far up on the bleak north shore of Lake Superior, by special motor bus. All were in excellent condition, save for sore tendons and a few aching muscles. The entire trip was made by snowshoe, the men carrying all their personal equipment and blankets in packsacks on their backs. The dog teams carried food supplies and the camp equipment.

The party averaged about 20 miles a day and had to break their own trail a large part of the way. The only signs of civilization seen by the party during the trip were three trappers' cabins encountered near the international boundary. A motion picture was taken of the trip, and will be sent all over the United States by the Ten Thousand Lakes of Minnesota Association.

In spite of the remote region of virgin pine forests through which they traveled, the men enjoyed some of the advantages of civilization. A radio set was carried, and programs from all parts of the country were received each night. On the second day out, members of the party enjoyed a real Turkish bath. A trapper had built a log chamber in which stones were heated, and hot steam produced by throwing snow or water on them.

Tents were pitched each night on the snow covered lakes, near the shore, and the men slept on balsam boughs thrown over the snow. Moose and deer were sighted, and the work of the beaver was observed on all sides.

The object of the trip was to study at first hand the conditions regarding wild life in the forest, particularly the beaver. Regions in which most beaver are found are virtually inaccessible in summer. D. A. Peterson, formerly of Brainerd, chief game warden, accompanied Mr. Gould and Leo Chosa, superintendent of the Superior State Game Refuge, piloted the party. The dog teams used were those owned by the game and fish department, and the mushers were game wardens stationed in that district.

Following the trip all members of the party expressed surprise in the beauties of the Superior Forest in winter, and declared that such trips will soon be made on a large scale by sportsmen who enjoy forest travel.

According to the Ten Thousand Lakes of Minnesota Association, which was represented on the trip by Donald Hough, director of publicity, the trip, aside from its official purpose, means the opening up of northern Minnesota forests to winter travel for sport.

"The north woods are even more beautiful in winter than in summer," said Mr. Hough, "and each year more outdoor people are making this discovery. Inquiries as to winter accommodations are increasing at the Ten Thousand Lakes office. Reports are making arrangements to handle this business. Minnesota soon will be not only the summer, but the winter playground of millions of people and it is the intention of the Lakes Association to develop both seasons in this respect."

This One Always Goes Over

An American bride, returning to the hotel after an early morning walk, stopped at a door which she imagined to be the door of her husband's room, saying: "Honey, it's me; let me in." No response.

"Honey! It's me; it's Mamie; open the door."

Still no answer.

"Honey! Honey! Don't you hear? It's me, honey."

Gruff (unknown male voice): "Madam, this is not a beehive; it's a bathroom!"—Empeco News.

AVERTS SYMPATHETIC STRIKE OF MOTORMEN AND OTHERS

(By United Press)
London, March 29.—Premier MacDonald succeeded at the eleventh hour in forcing a settlement of the tram and bus strike, and then averting a sympathetic strike of subway motormen and electrical workers scheduled for today.

Once more the labor premier has increased his prestige and that of his government by bringing about a settlement of an industrial dispute.

A delegation of striking tramway men met at 11 o'clock to consider terms arrived at under the MacDonald direction last night, reported to involve an increase in wages of six shillings a week with an additional two shillings to be granted according to the rise or fall of the cost of living.

The men had demanded a flat increase of eight shillings, but it was believed they would accept the compromise and resume work tomorrow.

SWUNG FROM HER BERTH BY HAMMOCK

WOMAN FOUND EXHAUSTED ON TRACKS NEAR GLAD-STONE, N. D.

(By United Press)
Dickinson, N. D., March 29.—Recovering from exposure after jumping from a Northern Pacific sleeping car Thursday morning at Gladstone, North Dakota, a woman who gave her name as Hattie Merritt was still in a hospital here today.

Pretty and giving her age as 27 years, the woman would give no reason for swinging out of her berth by means of a hammock. She at first refused to give her name, but finally Northern Pacific agents got her to talk. She said she had a sister, Mrs. Lacy, living in Chicago. The woman was en route from Seattle to Chicago. She appeared to have plenty of money and to be well educated and refined. She was particularly attractive. Agents said she is apparently suffering from some strange mental condition. She had destroyed all means of identification in her personal belongings, but told officials she lived at Seattle.

A section crew discovered her exhausted on the right of way near Gladstone seven hours after she had leaped from the sleeping car.

FIRST TOURIST CAMP OF SEASON, HORSESHOE LAKE

Deputy Game Warden A. P. Cardle reports that in company with J. F. Cibazar Thursday they saw a tent pitched and a campfire burning merrily on the shores of Horseshoe lake, near Velvet Beach. This, says Mr. Cardle, is to the best of his knowledge, the first tourist camp of the season, the harbinger of the many who will soon be making their annual pilgrimage to the lake region.

HAGEN CASE TO JURY LATE IN AFTERNOON

JOHN BURKE MAKES PLEA FOR HIM IN GRAND FORKS
TRIAL

CONTENDS HE WAS NOT PRESI-DENT OF SCANDINAVIAN-
AMERICAN BANK

(By United Press)
Grand Forks, N. D., March 29.—The H. J. Hagen case probably will go to the jury late today. John Burke, attorney for the defense, made his plea to the jury this morning, contending Hagen was not president of the Scandinavian-American bank of Fargo during the last year of its operation, and therefore, could not be guilty of the crime as charged with receiving deposits while having knowledge that the bank was insolvent. It was during the last year of the bank's operations that the alleged crime is said to have been committed.

Hagen is specifically alleged to have received deposits in February, 1921, knowing the bank was insolvent. Burke also contended collateral offered by heavy borrowers was sufficient to warrant loans made by the bank. The state has contended that at least $400,000 worth of notes held were worthless.

Attorney General Schafer conducting the prosecution addressed the jury this afternoon.

DAHLGREN TO LEAVE FORESTRY SERVICE

HAS BEEN SUPERVISOR OF SU-PERIOR NATIONAL FOREST RESERVE

(By United Press)
Ely, Minn., March 29.—Calvin A. Dahlgren, supervisor of the Superior national forests, is severing his connection with the United States Forestry Service and will be succeeded by A. L. Richey who has been supervisor of the Holy Cross national forestry in Colorado for several years.

Richey will arrive in Ely about April 1st, to take over the new assignment. Dahlgren will assist Richey there about a month to get acquainted with his new work. After that, he is considering the tourist business among several other opportunities as a future field. He plans to make Ely his headquarters. Dahlgren has been in the forestry service for fifteen years.

WORST SNOW STORM OF SEASON TIES UP ST. PAUL

MORE THAN FOOT OF SNOW WAS SWIRLED INTO DRIFTS BY GALE

BUSINESS VIRTUALLY AT STAND-STILL IN THE TWIN CITIES

(By United Press)
St. Paul, March 29.—The worst snow storm of the winter completely tied up this section today.

More than a foot of snow swirled into drifts by a gale, tied up railroads and street traffic, and business was virtually at a standstill in the Twin Cities.

The snow started falling late yesterday and was still increasing in intensity at 9:30 today.

Fifty miles south of the Twin Cities the snow turned to sleet and ice and tore down hundreds of miles of telephone lines.

Officials of all wire companies said it was the most disastrous storm to them in many years.

Fifty miles north and west of the Twin Cities, although there was no ice, the heavy snowfall was driven by such a terrific wind that pole lines were snapped off and the snow driven into such deep drifts that it will be many days before anything like normal traffic can be resumed.

Thousands of persons in the Twin Cities were unable to get down town at all. Those who did reach places of employment, waded through waist deep drifts, or mushed on snow shoes and skis. Very few automobiles were able to get through the drifts and these made progress only by laboriously shoveling and bucking.

Street cars were moving on some lines at the speed of about a mile an hour. They would back up and buck the snow for a few feet, and then try it again. Hundreds of street cars were tied up, unable to get out at all.

MANITOBA HAS COLDER WEATHER

Winnipeg, Manitoba, March 29.—Manitoba experienced a sudden drop in temperature during the night, which was accompanied by a strong wind from the north. The official thermometer registered three degrees above zero at 7 o'clock this morning, a drop of nearly 25 degrees during the past 12 hours. The forecast for Manitoba and Saskatchewan promises strong east and northeast winds; cloudy and cold with light snowfalls.

THREE STATES IN GRIP OF BLIZZARD

St. Paul, March 29.—Minnesota, Iowa and Wisconsin struggled today in one of the most disastrous blizzards in ten years.

Iowa, southern Wisconsin, as well as northern Illinois found the snow turning to sleet and ice which demolished telephone and telegraph lines and stalled transportation.

More than a foot of snow fell over central and north central Minnesota and the crest of the storm struck northern Wisconsin and Lake Superior early today.

North and west of Fargo there was no snow but strong winds and lower temperatures.

The storm came out of Colorado and traveled northeastward.

SNOW AND WIND IN BRAINERD

A northeaster toyed with the city this morning and over six inches of snow fell, the government thermometer registering 17 degrees. Last night the shop whistle emitted a tremendous roar and train passengers were alarmed as the sky was illuminated. It was a grass fire near the round house and the men turned in an alarm, fearing the flames might reach the plant. The fire was speedily extinguished.

Snow fell heavily and the wind increased at Duluth at 7 o'clock this morning. On the Minnesota & International railway, from Brainerd north, no snow was reported, but heavy winds raged as far north as Pine River.

At 10 o'clock this morning, Northern Pacific passenger train No. 9, due out of Minneapolis at 9 A. M., was still in the Twin Cities.

At 10 A. M. Northern Pacific passenger train No. 30, due out of Morris at 7 A. M., was still at Morris. The Minneapolis Tribune called up the Dispatch, having heard a rumor that the Northern Pacific shops had been badly damaged by the grass fire last night. At 10 A. M., the Tribune man said, nine inches of snow had fallen in the Mill City.

STRUCK HEAD OF LAKES 6:30 A. M.

Superior, Wis., March 29.—The blizzard which swept out of Colorado, Nebraska, South Dakota and Minnesota, struck the head of the lakes at 6:30 A. M. today, with full intensity.

By noon there was four inches of snow which drifted into huge drifts, greatly hampering traffic. The storm was being driven south over Lake Superior by a sixty mile gale.

TEMPERATURE DROPS 20 DEGREES, BEMIDJI

Bemidji, Minn., March 29.—No snow had fallen here up to noon today, but there was strong shifting winds and the temperature dropped rapidly. It was 20 degrees colder this morning than yesterday morning, and mostly cloudy.

FOOT OF SNOW IN LITTLE FALLS

Little Falls, Minn., March 28.—Little Falls struggled through the worst blizzard in ten years today.

More than a foot of snow had fallen at noon and there was no sign of a let-up. The thermometer stood about 18 above zero.

3 INCHES OF SNOW AT WAHPETON, N. D.

Wahpeton, N. D., March 29.—Three inches of snow blanketed southeastern North Dakota today, and this section appeared to be just on the edge of the blizzard sweeping northeastward out of the Colorado Mountains.

Heavy winds and lower temperatures prevailed throughout North Dakota. The snow diminished to a flurry at Valley City and beyond there appeared to be no snow.

Fair weather and strong winds was the prospect for the northeast today and tomorrow.

FERGUS FALLS HAS STRONG WIND

Fergus Falls, March 29.—Two inches of snow, 19 above zero and a strong wind comprised the not unusual weather here today. With the exception of late trains, the March blizzard had little effect on Fergus Falls.

SNOW PREDICTED FOR FARGO TODAY

Fargo, March 29.—Snow and temperatures ranging up to 18 above zero was the weather situation in Fargo and vicinity this morning.

It was cloudy, however, and the weather bureau expected snow during the day.

BLIZZARD RAGES AT EAU CLAIRE

Eau Claire, Wis., March 29.—A blizzard which started yesterday afternoon was still raging here today. About one foot of snow had fallen up to noon and strong northeastern winds blew it into great drifts. Roads in the rural sections were blocked. Similar reports were received from Menominee and other towns where the snow has drifted six feet deep in places.

Fargo, March 29.—The executive committee of the Independent Voters association meeting here today will determine the convention date to nominate a ticket of anti-nonpartisan league officers. No announcement had been made at a late hour today.

NEGRO MORON ASSAULTS, KILLS WHITE WOMAN

MRS. J. MOJOL, ST. PAUL, FOUND DEAD IN AN ALLEY

SEVEN YEAR OLD SON TRIES TO PROTECT HIS MOTHER

(By United Press)
St. Paul, March 29.—"Shoot to kill" was the order police had today in their search of the negro moron who last night assaulted and murdered Mrs. J. Mojol.

Every available detective and patrolman was put on the trail of the burly negro.

Attacked about 11 p. m., the woman was dragged into an alley while her seven year old son Leo fought valiantly to protect his mother. A sweep of the negro's arm sent him to the ground. He arose and struggled with the negro, this time the negro striking at him viciously and sent him down bleeding.

The boy ran screaming down the street, hailing a passing motorist and telling the story.

As the boy and the motorist entered the alley the negro fired two shots, one of them penetrating the heart of Mrs. Mojol killing her instantly. The negro fled when the gun squad arrived on the scene. The blizzard had covered the negro's tracks and it was impossible to trace him.

Half an hour before Mrs. Mojol was attacked, Mrs. E. N. Moillier was assaulted by the same negro a few blocks away from the murder scene.

The negro refused her money and dragged her into an alley. As he did this, the revolver which he carried was discharged twice. Apparently this frightened him away.

SNOW AND WIND IN BRAINERD

A northeaster toyed with the city this morning and over six inches of snow fell, the government thermometer registering 17 degrees. Last night the shop whistle emitted a tremendous roar and train passengers were alarmed as the sky was illuminated. It was a grass fire near the round house and the men turned in an alarm, fearing the flames might reach the plant. The fire was speedily extinguished.

Snow fell heavily and the wind increased at Duluth at 7 o'clock this morning. On the Minnesota & International railway, from Brainerd north, no snow was reported, but heavy winds raged as far north as Pine River.

At 10 o'clock this morning, Northern Pacific passenger train No. 9, due out of Minneapolis at 9 A. M., was still in the Twin Cities.

At 10 A. M. Northern Pacific passenger train No. 30, due out of Morris at 7 A. M., was still at Morris. The Minneapolis Tribune called up the Dispatch, having heard a rumor that the Northern Pacific shops had been badly damaged by the grass fire last night. At 10 A. M., the Tribune man said, nine inches of snow had fallen in the Mill City.

STRUCK HEAD OF LAKES 6:30 A. M.

Superior, Wis., March 29.—The blizzard which swept out of Colorado, Nebraska, South Dakota and Minnesota, struck the head of the lakes at 6:30 a. m. today, with full intensity. By noon there was four inches of snow which drifted into huge drifts, greatly hampering traffic. The storm was being driven south over Lake Superior by a sixty mile gale.

TEMPERATURE DROPS 20 DEGREES, BEMIDJI

Bemidji, Minn., March 29.—No snow had fallen here up to noon today, but there was strong shifting winds and the temperature dropped rapidly. It was 20 degrees colder this morning than yesterday morning, and mostly cloudy.

FOOT OF SNOW IN LITTLE FALLS

Little Falls, Minn., March 29.—Little Falls struggled through the worst blizzard in ten years today. More than a foot of snow had fallen at noon and there was no sign of a let-up. The thermometer stood about 18 above zero.

3 INCHES OF SNOW AT WAHPETON, N. D.

Wahpeton, N. D., March 29.—Three inches of snow blanketed southeastern North Dakota today, and this section appeared to be just on the edge of the blizzard sweeping northeastward out of the Colorado Mountains.

Heavy winds and lower temperatures prevailed throughout North Dakota. The snow diminished to a flurry at Valley City and beyond there appeared to be no snow. Fair weather and strong winds was the prospect for the northeast today and tomorrow.

FERGUS FALLS HAS STRONG WIND

Fergus Falls, March 29.—Two inches of snow, 19 above zero and a strong wind comprised the not unusual weather here today. With the exception of late trains, the March blizzard had little effect on Fergus Falls.

SNOW PREDICTED FOR FARGO TODAY

Fargo, March 29.—Snow and temperatures ranging up to 18 above zero was the weather situation in Fargo and vicinity this morning.

It was cloudy, however, and the weather bureau expected snow during the day.

BLIZZARD RAGES AT EAU CLAIRE

Eau Claire, Wis., March 29.—A blizzard which started yesterday afternoon was still raging here today. About one foot of snow had fallen up to noon and strong northeastern winds blew it into great drifts. Roads in the rural sections were blocked. Similar reports were received from Menominee and other towns where the snow has drifted six feet deep in places.

Fargo, March 29.—The executive committee of the Independent Voters association meeting here today will determine the convention date to nominate a ticket of anti-nonpartisan league officers. No announcement had been made at a late hour today.

NEGRO MORON ASSAULTS, KILLS WHITE WOMAN

MRS. J. MOJOL, ST. PAUL, FOUND DEAD IN AN ALLEY

SEVEN YEAR OLD SON TRIES TO PROTECT HIS MOTHER

(By United Press)
St. Paul, March 29.—"Shoot to kill" was the order police had today in their search of the negro moron who last night assaulted and murdered Mrs. J. Mojol.

Every available detective and patrolman was put on the trail of the burly negro.

Attacked about 11 p. m., the woman was dragged into an alley while her seven year old son Leo fought valiantly to protect his mother. A sweep of the negro's arm sent him to the ground. He arose and struggled with the negro, this time the negro striking at him viciously and sent him down bleeding.

The boy ran screaming down the street, hailing a passing motorist and telling the story.

As the boy and the motorist entered the alley the negro fired two shots, one of them penetrating the heart of Mrs. Mojol killing her instantly. The negro fled when the gun squad arrived on the scene. The blizzard had covered the negro's tracks and it was impossible to trace him.

Half an hour before Mrs. Mojol was attacked, Mrs. E. N. Molliter was assaulted by the same negro a few blocks away from the murder scene.

The negro refused her money and dragged her into an alley. As he did this, the revolver which he carried was discharged twice. Apparently this frightened him away.

NINE ARE KILLED AND MANY HURT IN SERIES TORNADOES

STORMS SWEEP OKLAHOMA LATE YESTERDAY WITH TER-RIFIC VIOLENCE

AT SHAWNEE SCHOOL AND HUND-RED RESIDENCES BLOWN DOWN

(By United Press)
Oklahoma City, March 29.—Nine persons were killed and many seriously injured, when a series of tornadoes swept Oklahoma late yesterday.

Seven deaths were reported from Shawnee and the other two were reported at Noble.

Other deaths may have occurred in towns isolated from communication. The tornado swept a path several blocks wide at Shawnee, destroying a school and wrecking a hundred or more residences.

Property damage is estimated at hundreds of thousands of dollars.

BRICKLAYERS AND SAND BLAST MEN BUMP INTO SOCIETY

(By United Press)
London, March 29.—The bricklayers and sand blast men have climbed into society.

The Carlton Club, distinguished as the world's most exclusive club, has issued invitations to the workmen who for the past year have been renovating the front of the club house.

Carlton members took an exception to their old rule of never admitting a stranger to the club.

NEW PARK PICTURES

Extraordinary Selection to be Shown at Theatre in Near Future

The management of the New Park announces the following line up of special and super-special productions to be shown soon at this theatre. In keeping with their policy "The Pick of Pictures" nothing but the best will be offered to patrons of the New Park.

Among the first to be shown will be "Black Oxen." The story and picture that the world is talking about. "The Eternal Three"—one of Marshal Neilans big specials.
"Boy of Mine," a Booth Tarkington story that has been pictured starring Ben Alexander. Every man woman and child in town should see this.

"The White Sister" a super-special starring Lillian Gish.
"The Love Master" with Strong Heart the Belgian police dog.
"The Dangerous Maid" with Constance Talmadge.

Richard Barthelmess in "Twenty-One"—a modern drama with Dick in the role of an ordinary American youth. The kind that everyone likes to see him portray.

Richard Talmadge in "Let's Go"—a new star to be introduced to the Brainerd public. Mr. Talmadge is trying to fill the place left vacant by Douglas Fairbanks as a stunt king, since Fairbanks is making only costume and historical plays.

Marion Davies in "Little Old New York"—a super-special that you have been hearing so much about.

"Scaramouche" a Rex-Ingram super-special with Apice Tery playing the lead.

"The Marriage Circle" that recently made a decided hit at the State Theatre, Minneapolis.

Milton Sills and Anna Q. Nilsson in "Flowing Gold."

"Painted People" with Coleen Moore. Said to be better than her "Flaming Youth."

Wesley Barry in "George Washington, Junior."

Corinne Griffith and Conway Tearle in "Lilies of the Field."

Lionel Barrymore in "Unseeing Eyes."

"Daddies" with Mae Marsh and Harry Meyers.

This is one of the most phenomenal line ups of pictures that has ever been booked for a theatre in a town the size of Brainerd to be shown in so short a time, and it is hoped that the Brainerd people will show their appreciation by seeing each and every one of these pictures, which will be shown on the average of two a week.

NEW PARK PICTURES

Extraordinary Selection to be Shown at Theatre in Near Future

The management of the New Park announces the following line up of special and super-special productions to be shown soon at this theatre. In keeping with their policy "The Pick of Pictures" nothing but the best will be offered to patrons of the New Park.

Among the first to be shown will be "Black Oxen." The story and picture that the world is talking about. "The Eternal Three"—one of Marshal Neilans big specials.

"Boy of Mine," a Booth Tarkington story that has been pictureized starring Ben Alexander. Every man woman and child in town should see this.

"The White Sister" a super-special starring Lillian Gish.

"The Love Master" with Strong Heart the Belgian police dog.

"The Dangerous Maid" with Constance Talmadge.

Richard Barthelmess in "Twenty-One"—a modern drama with Dick in the role of an ordinary American youth. The kind that everyone likes to see him portray.

Richard Talmadge in "Let's Go"—a new star to be introduced to the Brainerd public. Mr. Talmadge is trying to fill the place left vacant by Douglas Fairbanks as a stunt king, since Fairbanks is making only costume and historical plays.

Marion Davies in "Little Old New York"—a super-special that you have been hearing so much about.

"Scaramouche" a Rex-Ingram super-special with Alice Tery playing the lead.

"The Marriage Circle" that recently made a decided hit at the State Theatre, Minneapolis.

Milton Sills and Anna Q. Nilsson in "Flowing Gold."

"Painted People" with Colleen Moore. Said to be better than her "Flaming Youth."

Wesley Barry in "George Washington, Junior."

Corinne Griffith and Conway Tearle in "Lilies of the Field."

Lionel Barrymore in "Unseeing Eyes."

"Daddies" with Mae Marsh and Harry Meyers.

This is one of the most phenomenal line ups of pictures that has ever been booked for a theatre in a town the size of Brainerd to be shown in so short a time, and it is hoped that the Brainerd people will show their appreciation by seeing each and every one of these pictures, which will be shown on the average of two a week.

REMEMBERS THE OLD DAYS

THAT the Dispatch is read by the many former residents of Brainerd and thus keeps alive their interest in local happenings is evidenced by a letter which Attorney Justin M. Smith, of Bozeman, Montana, wrote to G. F. Mitchell, of this city. In it Mr. Smith said in part:

"In the Brainerd Dispatch of February 22nd, I read with a great deal of interest the account of the banquet tendered Mr. Corkrey and yourself upon your retirement from service with the Northern Pacific railway company. The occasion was most complimentary and indeed fitting.

"It does not seem that it was twenty-five years ago when I, together with Frank White, Henry White, Fred McKay, Tom Blackburn, Quinn Parker, Johnnie McDougall, and Judd Wright and others participated in the activities of the store department of the Northern Pacific railway company. How we used to 'rag' Bill Entiken; spend a big portion of our time down at 'Dad Scott's desk and how you, Joe Kiebler and the others were wont to find some excuse to talk things over. Those were great days. They were as happy as any I ever experienced and it does not seem that those days were 25 years ago and it is hard to realize that some that I refer to have passed beyond, and others have ceased their activities.

"We are all getting older and with added years, more sober of thought and action. I cannot get away from the thought that the railroad men of 25 and 30 years ago were better men in every way, shape and form than the same men today. Perhaps I am wrong, but whenever I call to mind the men with whom I was associated and I contrast those men with those of today, I cannot get away from the fact that to me there was something superior about them.

"I want to wish you well. You have many years of usefulness before you, and it is to be hoped that while you have retired from active life in the field that you have followed for so many years, you will devote your remaining years to things that are useful and which your experience and association has qualified you to participate in."

WHEN A COMMUNITY PROSPERS

THE Brainerd Chamber of Commerce, through its committee, has started a "Buy at Home" campaign and the idea has also been taken up by many other communities. The St. James Independent takes up this phase of the question:

"We have never been so foolish as to question the 'right' of the people to spend their money with mail order houses, if they so choose, but we do question the wisdom of such procedure, upon any pretext. In the first place we are all directly interested in the progress of our own community because it is our own. Admittedly this community cannot prosper without the support of the people residing here, and, admittedly also, the prosperity of the community in which we live is reflected in our own condition.

"In the next place, the local merchant does not have to meet the big overhead expense of the city merchant and can therefore afford to sell better quality merchandise for the same money paid for inferior articles in the big city. The 'buy at home' spirit needs reviving with a few people and if practiced by all people it would produce the greatest degree of satisfaction all around. The next time you are tempted to send away for some article that can be bought at home, satisfy your own curiosity by giving the local dealer a chance to exhibit his wares and give you a price on it."

PRONGHORN IS GOING

Finish of the Swiftest Animal in America Now in Sight, Says Nature Magazine

Fifty years ago pronghorn antelopes, the swiftest animal in America, were so abundant there was little thought of trying to estimate their herds, says Nature Magazine of Washington. When antelope were numerous and widely scattered, the animal as a species was safe.

It ranged over a large part of the western country from the Missouri to the Cascade range and the Sierra Nevada, and from Canada to Mexico. It now is reaching the point of final disappearance.

There are a few hundred antelope living around the northern border of Yellowstone National Park some in Wyoming and New Mexico. In the state of Idaho there are about 200 in the very southwestern corner along the headwaters of the Owyhee. A conservative estimate of the total number left in California is about 300. In southern Oregon and northern Nevada, there are perhaps more than in any other part of the United States.

The antelope cannot stand captivity. It does not thrive even in wide fenced areas as do the buffalo, deer, and elk. It is delicate, high-strung, and easily upset.

Closed seasons and such protection from gunners as are offered through state game laws are of no avail. The few remaining antelope live on the waste stretches of property that belong to the government.

KNOCKS OUT MIDDLEWEIGHT CHAMPION OF EUROPE IN 10TH ROUND

Minneapolis, March 29.—Jock Malone, St. Paul fighter, won from Roland Todd, middleweight champion of Europe, and knocked him out in the tenth and final round of the fight last night.

Malone gave the Britisher a good fight, and in the tenth round tore into his mid-waist, inflicting terrific punishment. Then he shifted his attack to Todd's head and put him down for the count of nine. The Britisher then arose and struck out a feeble left. Malone brushed it aside slamming him twice and he went down with only 20 seconds left of the tenth round. He was unable to leave the ring for ten minutes.

MAY PLAY BIG LEAGUE GAMES IN SOUTH

By HENRY L. FARRELL
United Press Sports Editor

New York, March 29.—With the exception of the Cincinnati Reds all of the major league teams scheduled exhibition games in the south this spring against teams in their own league.

Southern exhibition games that bring major league teams in competition against each other are not unusual. They have come to be a part of the training of the team and an important part. They also help to pay the bills.

Up until this season, however, teams generally selected their opponents from the other league, but this year National League teams were playing

National League teams, and American League teams played American League clubs along with their interleague games.

The management of the Cincinnati club did not arrange any games with National League clubs, because it is opposed to the idea, but it is so heavily outvoted that it probably will make its plans next spring with an open mind.

In just a few years, the idea of the early spring exhibition games has grown so much and proved to be such a good business venture that something bigger and better organized than the present arrangement is almost sure to be the result.

It is quite possible that in a few years the season may be extended to take in officially a certain number of games down south and that a regular circuit might be formed.

With just a few exceptions, all of the major league teams are now training in Florida. It is possible that all of the teams with the exception of the Chicago Cubs will train in Florida next spring. Most of the club owners picked cities in the same part of the state and they are all located within a few miles of each other.

Baseball men say the idea of an early start with the games played down south until May, when the teams would move north, is not practical now, but they admit that such a plan might be worked out in the future.

Headquarters, Etc.

C. C. Kyle, general storekeeper of the Northern Pacific, and party arrived in Brainerd Thursday evening and spent Friday in Brainerd getting motion pictures of supply train operations for use along its lines and in the East.

Mr. Kyle is chairman of the committee on supply train operation of the American Railway Association, and these motion pictures are to form a part of the committee's report at the association's annual convention in Atlantic City this summer.

There are to be about one thousand feet of film taken in all, some 300 feet of which were taken Friday in Brainerd. The work started in the morning with moving pictures taken of the electric magnet crane loading supplies on cars. Other views were taken of the division storekeeper's headquarters, where H. L. Jones' staff were getting supplies ready for the train.

This supply train is scheduled to leave Brainerd on March 31st, for its regular trip over all lines east of Mandan, N. D., which trip is made every sixty days. Mr. Kyle and his staff will meet the train at Little Falls on Thursday morning, April 3rd, and pictures will be taken that day of the distribution of its supplies, consisting of track tools, station and section equipment.

With Mr. Kyle on April 3rd will be officials of various large railway systems, including the New York Central Lines, the Illinois Central, Baltimore and Ohio, New York, New Haven and Hartford, Southern Railway, and the Union Pacific.

These pictures are to be shown in every terminal along the lines of the Northern Pacific system, stated, Mr. Kyle, and Brainerd people will have an opportunity to view them. It is the intention to feature Brainerd in the titles that will be used with the films.

The films are being taken by Charles E. Bell, secretary, and his assistant, Frank Sussenguth, of the Mills & Bell Motion Pictures, Inc., of St. Paul. This company has produced the famous Burlington Library of motion pictures for the Chicago, Burlington & Quincy, the Great Northern and the Northern Pacific railways.

Brainerd is especially interested in these supply train pictures, since the headquarters for the system is in this city. There are three such trains operated over the system, one out of Brainerd which takes care of the lines east of Mandan, N. D., the second supplying the central section of the lines from Mandan to Paradise, Montana, and the third the remainder of the system to the Pacific coast. Richard Ahren, now retired, has been for many years in charge of the first named train.

Mr. Kyle stated that these three trains pick up annually and distribute along the lines of the Northern Pacific railway about three-quarters of a million dollars worth of supplies, which gives a fair idea of the enormous amount of work which is done in this one department alone.

With Mr. Kyle, in addition to the motion picture men, were H. M. Smith, traveling store keeper, and H. M. Carlson, secretary to Mr. Kyle.

Brainerd people will watch with interest the showing of these pictures which will be made at one of the local theatres as soon as the films can be prepared.

TWO FIRES IN CITY

Grass Fire Near Shops Last Night,
Gram Billiard Hall Damaged by Fire This Morning

Fire was discovered about 7:30 o'clock Friday evening in a swamp on the north side of the mainline tracks east of the shops. With a strong wind from the east, it was feared that the blaze would be driven down to the car shops and lumber yard which are on the same side of the tracks as the fire was.

The shop whistle was blown, and many thought that the shops were on fire. The fire department put several of its men on the job and with assistance from others the blaze was extinguished before it had traveled far.

At 1:30 o'clock Saturday morning the O. H. Gram billiard hall, 123 Kindred street was threatened by fire of unknown origin, but quick work on the part of the fire department extinguished the fire before it could spread to the main building. The flames burned the rear of the billiard hall and up through the roof. Mr. Gram stated that there was no fire in the building last night and is at a loss to find the cause for the blaze.

Much credit is due the department for bringing this fire under control so quickly with the start that it had, and with the strong wind that was blowing.

ANDREW HAUGE DIED

Agent of Minneapolis House Had Made His Home at National Hotel 7 Years

Andrew Hauge, agent for the Home Furnishing Co., of Minneapolis, who has made his home at the National hotel for the past seven years, died suddenly shortly before eight o'clock Friday evening, death resulting, it is thought from apoplexy.

Mr. Hauge was passing the O'Brien Mercantile Company's store, on the Laurel street side, when stricken. He was carried to the Bell boarding house, just east of the O'Brien store, and a physician called, but died before medical aid arrived. Deceased was about 65 years of age. His wife, from whom he is divorced, resides near Bemidji. The coroner is attempting to get in touch with relatives. No funeral arrangements have as yet been made.

ERICK ANDERSON FUNERAL

LAST WORD FROM PURE BRED SIRE COMMITTEE GIVEN

The last word from the Chamber of Commerce pure bred sire committee was received this morning when Chairman S. R. Adair telephoned the Dispatch this weighty and thought provoking statement:

"No one has more poor relations than a scrub bull."

The committee has received subscriptions to date of $2130 and will continue work a week longer to see all who may possibly give to this worthy project.

BRAINERD'S ODDEST STORIES OF TODAY

Captain William H. Fawcett in his May Whizz Bang tells this one on a farmer. A miserly farmer near Robbinsdale was in Brainerd when he received a telegram from his hired man which read:

"Come home, your best cow is dying."

The farmer was weeping when he alighted from the train, but his hired man gave him a reassuring pat on the back.

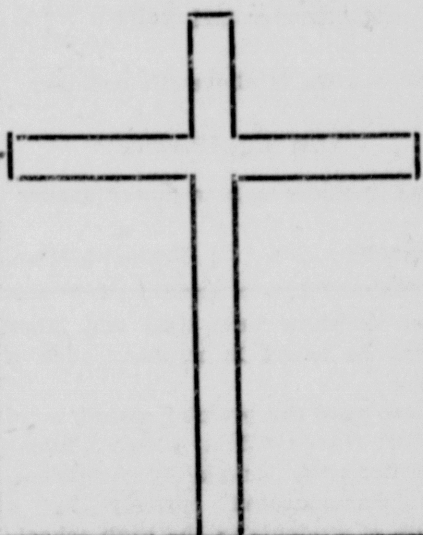

"Brace up, boss! I thought I'd break the news gently. It's your wife that's dead!"

The Power of Printing

Printing is an opportunity for the average business. No concern is too small and no business so different but that good printing can be profitably indulged in.

There is no getting away from it—printing is literally a magic carpet which you may command to go hither and yon and appear in thousands of places at the same time. A noted man may make an address before five hundred people but the newspaper reporters present will have that address before thousands of people by the power of print in the newspapers.—Empeco News.

VARIOUS POINT WINNERS

Alice Johnson Scored Highest in Color of Loaf and Thoroughness of Baking

The domestic science girls of the Brainerd high school, held a bread baking contest on Friday, March 28th. The girls' name given after each point mentioned scored the highest in the class:

External appearance: Color, Alice Johnson; Size, Helen Paine; Shape, Dorothy Olson.

Crust: Dep'h, Dora Albers; Texture, Helen Hilgeson.

Crumb: Color, Freda Rasmussen; Grain, Violet Stanley; Lightness, Isabelle Erickson; Moisture, Not Judged.

Thoroughness of baking—Alice Johnson.

Flavor—Theresa DeBill, Charles Fredrickson.

The class as a whole did the judging. This is the first of a series of contests to be held before school closes for the summer vacation.

Unethical

"Smile!" commanded the photographer. "You look too mournful."

"But I'm going to use this in my business advertising," the subject protested.

"Well, don't you think it would be better for your business if you didn't look so solemn?"

"No," was the surprising reply; "who in thunder would hire a grinning undertaker?"—Empeco News.

SECOND FLOOR PLAN

FIRST FLOOR PLAN

The WALLINGFORD

A Farm Home for the Large Family.

This roomy house—the Wallingford—has been designed to meet the needs of the modern farmer. The outside has cozy and homelike appearance. It would look equally well on the treeless prairie of the West or on the wooded hillsides of New England. A solid substantial effect is given by the arrangement of porches, neither of which are built on but are part of the general floor plan. The openings of the front porch are lined with trellis for vines, which with foundation shrubs and plants always add to the restfulness of an exterior. A color combination of light portland cement stucco with green trim and shutters and either a bright red or green roof will be entirely pleasing. A model of convenience, this plan takes into consideration the need for large rooms during the harvest season. Here is a living room 18 feet by 13 feet with a comfortable fireplace for long winter days and ventilation from all sides in hot weather. An unusually large dining room is adjoining. The kitchen contains large cupboards and a china closet which can be opened on the dining room side also. The screened porch should prove convenient for housework on hot days or as a place to take the family meals. Under this porch is a large concrete rainwater tank.

From the rear entry the men can go directly into the washroom, to clean up before entering the house. This entry has stairs leading to the basement, one-half of which is planned for the storage of fruit, seed, etc., and the other half contains laundry and boiler room.

At the east end of the house, shut off from the other rooms, is the farmer's office, so essential on the modern farm for keeping records of stock and farm operations. Upstairs there are four good bedrooms with plenty of good closet space in each and also a small room for sewing or additional storage.

BETTER HOME

WEEK MAY 11-18

THIRD ANNUAL CAMPAIGN TO BOOST BUILDING STANDARDS HELD EARLIER IN YEAR

The third great national campaign for better homes in America will be held this year earlier than ever before—during the week of May 11 to 18.

This is the third year of this movement, which originated from a thought expressed by the late Pres. Harding in a speech delivered at Akron, O., in 1921.

The central organization, which is completely divorced from all commercialism, has Herbert Hoover, secretary of commerce, as its president. Harvard university has granted leave of absence to Dr. James Ford, authority on housing and community organization, in order that he can conduct the nation-wide demonstrations for the development of home life in America during 1924. Headquarters has been moved from New York to Washington, at No. 1653 Pennsylvania ave.

The aims of better homes in America may be summed up briefly as follows: To show the advantages of thrift for home ownership, to overcome the shortage of homes in this country, estimated at 800,000, to strengthen home life and make it attractive, to assist and encourage home-makers—92 per cent of the housewives of America do their own housework—to improve the home environment, thereby promoting the physical and normal development of the child, to stimulate sensible purchasing for home improvement, and to mobilize community pride for a common object—pride of home.

The late Pres. Harding was heart and soul interested in this educational movement, publicly commending it in strong terms. He wrote to Sec. Hoover that "not only is there the primary consideration of advanced material comfort but the soundness of our social system and stability of our country are greatly enhanced by the development of love for a home and the creation of a home that can be loved."

Mr. Hoover is authority for the statement that "A hundred years from now your descendants will still be reaping the harvest of your labor for better homes in America."

The better homes campaign was first originated in 1922, when hundreds of communities, scattered from coast to coast and from the Gulf of Mexico north beyond the Arctic circle in Alaska, enthusiastically took part. The first prize that year was awarded to New Haven, Conn. There the committee took a house of the $8,000 class as a model. The committee, backed by the co-operation of practically every philanthropic, civic and business organization of the city also put before families of very limited means a powerful object lesson by equipping a model tenement in the heart of the city which could have been duplicated for $550.

Spokane, Wash., exhibited and demonstrated three model houses, representing a price range from $4,500 to $12,000. One of the most interesting and instructing demonstrations of better homes in 1922 was at St. Helena Island, S. C. A plantation cabin was remodeled, furnished and equipped, the program being put in the hands of a group of colored men and women who carried it out splendidly. Every article in the cabin was placed there with the object of demonstrating the need for it and its use, and to show that it was within the reach of the average industrious working family. Daily lessons were given to show how time and labor might be saved in running such a home.

Last year the premier award went to Port Huron, Mich., where a house was financed, completely furnished, and demonstrated entirely by a group of students in the high school. Gradually the work of the youngsters took hold of the community spirit of the entire city, every member of the community falling into line before better homes week was over. Eight thousand people went through the house which had been planned, built, furnished and demonstrated by the school boys and girls of Port Huron. On the last day of the demonstration of this model "better home," it was sold at public auction for exactly $300 more than it had cost to erect and completely furnish.

The demonstrations have been broad in their scope, and it is planned to have them broader this year and in succeeding years. One great aim of better homes in America is to impress upon those having in charge the education of children the need of teaching young girls home management, and the disbursement of household budgets.

At the Lyceum

"Back to Yellow Jacket" showing at the Lyceum tonight, is a strong story, forcefully told and one which will, at the same time, please every type of theatre-goer and cannot possibly offend even the most fastidious. There is no let-up in the fast pace which carries it from start to finish; the interest is never permitted to drag for even a single instant and at the same time there is not a single situation contained in it which could possibly displease any type of theatre goer. One of the "Gang" comedies is on the same program, and IS the 'Big Show.'

in 'The Song of Love'

Norma Talmadge Has Great Role

One of the most fascinating and entertaining stories which we have ever seen is on view at the New Park tonight and Sunday. It is "The Song of Love," starring the magnetic Norma Talmadge, and it would be difficult to visualize a role more fitting for the star. It is one of the finest and most artistic performances to her credit.

In this first National picture, which was produced by Joseph M. Schenck, Miss Talmadge plays the part of an Arabian dancing girl who becomes the center of devious intrigues and conspiracies. She is the main attraction in the tavern of her uncle, and news of her charm of face and figure and her pulse-quickenning dancing drew many from far and near.

The WALLINGFORD

A Farm Home for the Large Family.

This roomy house—the Wallingford—has been designed to meet the needs of the modern farmer. The outside has cozy and homelike appearance. It would look equally well on the treeless prairie of the West or on the wooded hillsides of New England. A solid substantial effect is given by the arrangement of porches, neither of which are built on but are part of the general floor plan. The openings of the front porch are lined with trellis for vines, which with foundation shrubs and plants always add to the restfulness of an exterior. A color combination of light portland cement stucco with green trim and shutters and either a bright red or green roof will be entirely pleasing. A model of convenience, this plan takes into consideration the need for large rooms during the harvest season. Here is a living room 18 feet by 13 feet with a comfortable fireplace for long winter days and ventilation from all sides in hot weather. An unusually large dining room is adjoining. The kitchen contains large cupboards and a china closet which can be opened on the dining room side also. The screened porch should prove convenient for housework on hot days or as a place to take the family meals. Under this porch is a large concrete rainwater tank.

From the rear entry the men can go directly into the washroom to clean up before entering the house. This entry has stairs leading to the basement, one-half of which is planned for the storage of fruit, seed, etc., and the other half contains laundry and boiler room. At the east end of the house, shut off from the other rooms, is the farmer's office, so essential in the modern farm for keeping records of stock and farm operations. Upstairs there are four good bedrooms with plenty of good closet space in each and also a small room for sewing or additional storage.

BETTER HOME

WEEK MAY 11-18

THIRD ANNUAL CAMPAIGN TO BOOST BUILDING STANDARDS HELD EARLIER IN YEAR

The third great national campaign for better homes in America will be held this year earlier than ever before—during the week of May 11 to 18.

This is the third year of this movement, which originated from a thought expressed by the late Pres. Harding in a speech delivered at Akron, O., in 1921.

The central organization, which is completely divorced from all commercialism, has Herbert Hoover, secretary of commerce, as its president. Harvard university has granted leave of absence to Dr. James Ford, authority on housing and community organization, in order that he can conduct the nation-wide demonstrations for the development of home life in America during 1924. Headquarters has been moved from New York to Washington, at No. 1653 Pennsylvania ave.

The aims of better homes in America may be summed up briefly as follows: To show the advantages of thrift for home ownership, to overcome the shortage of homes in this country, estimated at 800,000, to strengthen home life and make it attractive, to assist and encourage home-makers—92 per cent of the housewives of America do their own housework—to improve the home environment, thereby promoting the physical and normal development of the child, to stimulate sensible purchasing for home improvement, and to mobilize community pride for a common object—pride of home.

The late Pres. Harding was heart and soul interested in this educational movement, publicly commending it in strong terms. He wrote to Sec. Hoover that "not only is there the primary consideration of advanced material comfort but the soundness of our social system and stability of our country are greatly enhanced by the development of love for a home and the creation of a home that can be loved."

Mr. Hoover is authority for the statement that "A hundred years from now your descendants will still be reaping the harvest of your labor better homes in America."

The better homes campaigns were first originated in 1922, when hundreds of communities, scattered from coast to coast and from the Gulf of Mexico north beyond the Arctic circle in Alaska, enthusiastically took part. The first prize that year was awarded to New Haven, Conn. There the committee took a house of the $8,000 class as a model. The committee, backed by the co-operation of practically every philanthropic, civic and business organization of the city also put before families of very limited means a powerful object lesson by equipping a model tenement in the heart of the city which could have been duplicated for $550.

Spokane, Wash., exhibited and demonstrated three model houses, representing a price range from $4,500 to $12,000. One of the most interesting and instructing demonstrations of better homes in 1922 was at St. Helena Island, S. C. A plantation cabin was remodeled, furnished and equipped, the program being put in the hands of a group of colored men and women who carried it out splendidly. Every article in the cabin was placed there with the object of demonstrating the need for it and its use, and to show that it was within the reach of the average industrious working family. Daily lessons were awered in "Prodigal Daughters," a new Sam Wood Paramount picture production, starring Gloria Swanson, which will be shown at the Lyceum Theatre starting Sunday.
